

FEES, TERMS AND CONDITIONS 2022

At Adlib, we always endeavour to keep our fees as reasonable as possible, without too many extra costs for families. Please note that any production or costuming fees are all included. But to continue to provide the Adlib experience for them all, it is expected that students and their families become involved in fundraising and endeavour to sell as many tickets as possible to family and friends for all performances.

Please find a fee information for 2022. Please email us on peter@adlibentertainment.com.au if you would like to arrange a payment plan.

TRIAL OPTION AND REFUND POLICY:

New Students

At AYP, we have found that it is much more intimidating for children to observe a class than it is to participate. Our tutors are highly skilled at capturing the interest and imagination of even the most apprehensive child. For this reason, we do not offer a “have a look” option. But for new students, if, after your third class, you decide not to continue with the programme please notify us in writing within seven days and your fee (less $60 for admin costs) will be refunded. This option is not available for the Production Class, due to the structure of these courses.

Established Students

Payment for classes is for the minimum tenure as identified in the pricing table. Anyone on progressive payment plans is still contracted to these minimum periods even if the student does not continue with the classes. Refunds will not be given on fees due established students.
